Equity, diversity and inclusion initiatives at NSERC

NSERC's focus on EDI

- NSERC is committed to implementing policies and processes to identify and mitigate barriers and biases within our programs
- Sound EDI practices at NSERC will:
 - increase access to the largest pool of qualified applicants
 - enhance the integrity of our application and selection processes
 - increase the overall excellence of the research

Why is addressing EDI issues important?

To be seen as equally “competent” by reviewers, female researchers need to publish:

OR

than male applicants when applying for a medical fellowship.⁵

Reference letters for female medical faculty were shorter, more vague, and placed less emphasis on research than those for males.⁶

Percentage of letters that contained the phrase:

The average letter length for women was 227 words, compared to 253 words for men.⁶

US science professors were asked to evaluate a CV for a lab manager:²

The male candidate was offered a higher salary...

... and was rated more “competent” and “hireable.”

The catch? Other than the names at the top, the CVs were identical.²

The gender gap in science: How long until women are equally represented?:

“Despite recent progress...the gender gap is especially large in authorship positions associated with seniority, and prestigious journals have fewer women authors.”

What features does NSERC have in place to enhance EDI for students/postdocs?

- Diversity on selection committees
- EDI training for staff and members
- Extensive list of examples of activities demonstrating communication, interpersonal, and leadership abilities
- Parental leave policies
- Evaluation of applicants based on active period
- Collection of equity data
- Special circumstances section
- Applications from Indigenous applicants

EDI data collection

This new data is important for monitoring the equity performance of our programs and informing future measures to increase equity, diversity and inclusion in the research enterprise.

Interagency harmonization of the collection of self-identification data includes: age, gender, Indigenous identity, disability and visible minority.

Examples:

Advice and tips on completing Form 201

Tips on applying for an NSERC scholarship or fellowship

Selection committee member presentation and/or video

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GvUsRO9ZB8E>

General (but important!) tips

Read the program description

Read the application instructions

Read the selection committee guide

What makes a good research proposal?

- Write the proposal yourself
- Be as clear as possible
- Describe the objectives, hypothesis, experimental approach, methods, significance, etc.
- Clearly explain the significance to the NSE
- Make your proposal understandable for all members (consider their broad range of expertise)
- Do not repeat info from the thesis section (you can refer to it)
- Focus on what you will be working on during the tenure of the award
- Describe how EDI is considered in the research plan and design, if applicable (see Guide for Applicants)
- Maximum of one page in length (including references)

Making sure your research and your program are eligible at NSERC

- Major challenges must lie in the natural sciences and engineering (NSE), other than the health sciences
- Consult NSERC's eligibility criteria (guidelines and addendum)
- Applications containing research proposals that are not eligible under these guidelines may be rejected
- You can only apply to one agency per academic year

Justifying the eligibility of your research

- Complete the justification for eligibility of proposed research section if your research overlaps with health or social sciences
- used by NSERC staff to determine eligibility of your proposed research; not seen by the selection committee members
- use plain language to explain why you believe that your research is eligible at NSERC
- should not be another description of your research project
- should be a short explanation (a paragraph is fine, you do not need to use the whole page)

Contributions and applicant's statement

Important to refer to instructions when completing this section!

- Part 1: Articles published, accepted, submitted
- Part 2: Most significant contributions to R&D
- Part 3: Applicant's statement:
 - research experience
 - relevant activities
 - special circumstances

Page limits: PGS D – 2 pages / PDF – 4 pages
No updates accepted once application is submitted

Things to watch out for when writing proposal/contributions/statement

- Impact/importance of research not explained
- Repetitiveness throughout the application
- Citations
 - Missing recent relevant/important work in the area
 - Irrelevant articles included
 - Relying on secondary sources (lack of understanding)
- Contributions to research not properly highlighted
- Lack of focus or coherence
- Spelling mistakes
- Repetitiveness
- Too much modesty
- Convey your passion for the research you are doing!

Transcripts

- Follow the transcript guidelines in the Form 201 instructions; your application will be rejected if you do not adhere
- Transcripts must be:
 - up-to-date (dated or issued in the current fall session or after the last term during which you were registered, even if there are no grades or updates)
 - official (issued by the Registrar's Office, not web transcripts)
 - included for each program listed in your application (for PDF, you only need your doctoral transcripts)
- You are responsible for ensuring all transcripts have been uploaded according to the guidelines (even if your institution does the uploading)

Reports on the applicant

- Who should you ask to write your reports?
 - Your thesis supervisor
 - Another person familiar with your research and other abilities
 - Not your proposed supervisor (unless they have been or are currently your supervisor)
- How do you invite your references to complete the reports?
 - Enter their names and email addresses in the online system; the system will send them an email with instructions
 - Invite them well in advance of the deadline; your application cannot be submitted without these reports

Where to get additional information

- Resource videos
 - Tips on applying for an NSERC scholarship or fellowship
 - Demystifying the review process for NSERC scholarships and fellowships
 - CGS M instructions for completing the reference assessment form
- Program literature
 - Program guide for each program
 - Form 201 instructions
 - Selection committee guide
 - Tri-Agency research training award holder's guide
- See NSERC website for other opportunities and supplements
- Talk to your supervisor – you may have an opportunity to receive indirect support through their grant
